THIS SUNDAY

This morning we take a break from our series in Philippians to welcome Dr. Jelle Creemers. Jelle Creemers is visiting Victoria from Belgium, where he lives with his wife Ilona and their three children (Lies, Joas and Lucas) in Aarschot. He teaches at the Evangelische Theologische Faculteit in Leuven, an academic institution for Evangelical theology where an international and interdenominational body of students is educated to serve as Christians leaders in diverse contexts. Jelle is member of an Evangelical free church and loves to speak in a broad variety of traditions on the challenge of Christian unity in diversity.

Today he brings us a message from Mark 10:17-31, titled "The Banana Sermon."

PRAYER MATTERS

We pray for our missionaries, Brent and Shelley Weeks, who are visiting us today. They work with Reach Beyond in Australia providing shortwave radio and other media to reach people in the Asia Pacific. We give thanks for your blessings on them: for Shelley's successful surgery in January and for the time they have had in Canada with Shelley's dad and siblings as they plan for her dad's needs. We pray for their boys: that Nelson will find a good baker's apprenticeship and that Malcolm finds a good gap year job. We also pray for Reach Beyond's project to develop shortwave radio programs for the Rohingya people fleeing Myanmar as refugees, for a Rohingya native speaker to voice the programs, and for the safety of that person and their family.
